Foe Within The Gates

KOREA, Formosa, Indo-China, even the continent of Europe are only minor parts of the quickening conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The ultimate goal of the Russians who boss the worldwide Communist conspiracy is conquest of America. The rest of the world would be easy if the United States could be robbed of its strength. And the Russian politicos who have spent lifetimes in the practice of fomenting trouble think they know how it could be done. They know a great deal about their favorite country.

They have agents on the scene with years of experience in fouling up its internal affairs. If there is one likelihood of the developing showdown which should be given priority over all others, even including those in strictly military affairs it is the likelihood that Russia's friends in the United States will be increasingly busy at their specialty of making trouble.

They will try to foment strikes and slowdowns. They will spread rumors of material shortages, in the hope of starting panicbuying of commodities. They will devote their known talents to every form of sabotage which promises to hurt the United States and help the Soviet Union.

The heaviest responsibility for dealing with them rests on the ordinary citizens of this republic. The FBI, it may be assumed, is rounding them up to the best of its ability. But the FBI can deal only with the source of the mischief. The effects must be dealt with by the people themselves.

Besides the planned mischief, furthermore, is the harm that can be done by panic-buying. There is no way to stop that except by popular opinion. A runaway inflation sparked by fear and selfishness could do more internal injury to the United States than anything which could be inflicted by any external enemy.

In The Hope Of Profit

THE COMMERCE clearing house has stirred up a whirlwind on a threshing floor with an article in its monthly publication "Taxes," about the income-tax status of gentlemen farmers. It points out that the Internal Revenue Bureau now is trying to drive these queer birds into two classes-those who farm for fun and those who farm for funds. This looks like quite a project.

There never was a gentleman farmer who didn't entertain the hope of both profit and pleasure. But, being a man of means other than those derived from perspiring toil on the soil, your gentleman farmer finds himself tempted at every turn to tempt profit and pleasure with juicier bait. If he succeeds, he learns by the time his first tomato ripens that he is grossly over-capitalized. If he survives the shock of that and subsequent discoveries that farming takes capital like a healthy pig takes his feed-incessantly-he may learn how to shake the bugs out of his operation and combine business with his pleasure.

In the meantime, the gentleman farmer has made a major contribution to the recapitalization of agricultural enterprise in his community which is in many cases his most important function. In the hope of monetary profit, but with his eye on some dividends in human satisfaction, he has been investing millions of dollars in one of the best of all securities-the good earth.

America's Voice Of Truth

THERE IS a fresh wave of criticism against the State Department's "Voice of America" for failure to offset the Kremlin's fantastic versions of what has been happening abroad. As usual, the cure being offered for the agency's weakness is more money. But money isn't the cure.

Granted that the "Voice of America" is subject to improvement, as almost everything is, it never can catch up to Communist party propaganda. No amount of money would make it possible for the United States to use an official agency of information for the dissemination of falsehood; the public wouldn't stand for it. This country is devoted to the principle that truth is the antidote for lies. The fact is that the truth overtakes the lies it follows but slowly and sometimes never overtakes them at all.

That is the "weakness" of the "Voice of America" which is an agency to disseminate truth. It always has been with foreign agencies designed to disseminate falsehoood. It has been kept on the defensive. That is the kind of a world in which the United States is trying to survive-a world in which truth is on the defensive because millions of human beings will believe a good big lie and will admit the truth only grudgingly, if ever, because that would mean disbelieving the lie, always a nerve-wracking experience.

There is not a shred of actual evidence that bigness has been an evil force either economically or socially.-President Charles Wilson of General Electric.

Deficit financing in its simplest definition means spending money you haven't got, operating beyond your income, spending borrowed money. If you. earn $300 a month and wish to spend note, agreeing to repay the each month and so does your interest payments.

If you continue to borrow the $100 month after month the interest soon bites deeply into your income and the debt itself becomes bigger and bigger. The result, in time, is bankruptcy, if repayment cannot be made. The court appoints a receiver empowered to sell your property. In the resulting liquidation, your creditors usually are left holding a near-empty bag. And you wind up a pauper, your family destitute. That's deficit financing for an individual, and government deficit financing has many similarities. When permitted to continue indefinitely, it must always

American citizens nave their whole future at stake in the issue of whether their government shall practice deficit financing in good times as well as bad. The practice already has become epidemic. Census Bureau figures published in the Congressional Quarterly show that not only has Federal government operated on borrowed money in 18 of the past 20 years but 33 of our 48 states are being infected with the disease too. That many overspent their revenues last year.

The practice, if prolonged by the Federal government, can have but one resulet: ruination, caused by the government finally defaulting on its securities or destroying monetary values by runaway infiation. A reliable veteran observer in Washington made the statement recently that he was convinced influential Federal government leaders now are definitely committed to a prolonged policy of deficit financing and with it, gradual inflation.

Now all petroleum imports will be taxed at the ½ cent rate. This rate was established in the next most lineral trade agreement-that with Venezuela in 1939.

Hardest hit will be Venezueia, which in 1949 sent to the U. S. 51.06 per cent of all U. S. petroleum imports. Other oil importers, in the order of their importance in the U.S. market, are the Netherlands West Indies, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Colombia, Mexico and Iran. Mexico accounted for only 3.66 per cent of the total. On the other big item, lead, the import duty will rise 100 per cent. Leading bearing ores, for instance, will rise from % cent per pound to 11/2 cents per pound. Canada contends with Mexico for first place among lead exporters to the U.S. So Canada is greatly concerned about this.

More will be heard of these import duties when the leading nations of the western world gather at Torquay, England, in September to spend the winter writing new trade treaties. The net effect of the termination of the U. S-Mexican agreement will be to strengthen the bargaining position of the U.S. at Torquay, since several nations, such as the oil and lead importers, will be eager to sign new agreements with the U. S. which will at least restore the duty rates in effect during the life of the Mexican agreement. (AP Newsfeatures)

There is little about either the land or the people to remind them of home. The main impression is one of bareness.

The Koreans are one of the world's most durable races. They've had to be to survive grinding poverty and disease. They are taller und lighterakinned than the Japanese, and they can do more work on less food. Only Chinese farmers compare with them

But now they prize American-algle hats and coat jackets-worn over white rolles.

-Police Chief Edward J. Allen, uty director. Jr., claims a "high" Washington politician with "good White House connections" is blocking prosecution of a Purple Gang racketeer.

Allen declined to name either the politician or the racketeer, but he said he had mailed the whole story to Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) who heads the Senate's investigation of crime.

Already, said Allen, Purple Gang members are running the slot-machines in adjacent Trumbull county.
